

Training & Professional Development

Primary English Subject Leadership Development Programme

The role of the English subject leader involves responsibility for pupils' progress and attainment; monitoring of this; developing the quality of teaching and learning; managing a budget and other resources; leading staff to ensure that, together, they are able to secure the best outcomes for children in English.

This four-session course is designed to stimulate leadership thinking and develop capacity to support and challenge, in order to secure school improvement in English and develop personal career potential. It provides opportunities for new primary English subject leaders or those returning to the role to engage in professional dialogue, exploring strategies for effective leadership including practical solutions to some of the challenges presented.

Participants will identify and focus on particular groups of pupils whose improvement in English is likely to have a significant impact upon school outcomes. Leaders will be expected to complete 'gap' tasks between sessions and share what has been learned.

Among the topics covered are use of data, action planning, using barrier analysis to identify and address pupil difficulties, monitoring and evaluation, lesson observation and feedback; elements of the course can also be tailored to address the group's emerging interests and needs.
